CONSTITUTION

Indiana State Conference.

WHEREAS, The Christians of the State of Indiana have felt, long and deeply, the want of co-operation among ministers, churches, and conferences in general enterprises, and of harmony and uniformity in local affairs: therefore, for the "better work of the ministry, the perfecting of the saints, the edifying of the body of Christ," we, the delegates from the several local conferences of the State of Indiana, in conference assembled at Cassville, Howard County, October 24 and 25, 1877, do adopt the following

TEXT—Gal. 2: 6; and Acts 15.

The word Conference means: The examination of things in the way of comparison. To consult together—To confer.

We are here for the purpose of conferring together for the furtherance of our beloved Christianity. May we be somewhat to each other in Conference, and may the Spirit of the Divine Master guide us into all truth, and be manifested in all our deliberations. We will notice:

I. The rise of our State Christian Conference:

This is of but recent date; a preliminary meeting was held at Marion, July 28th, 1877.

The First Annual Session was held at Cassville, October 28th, 1877. Three annual Sessions are past; we are now in our fourth one.

We have had, however, less than two years work, done by a regular State Agent, for the purpose of raising means for the Sinking Fund. Some notes, however, were taken by other agents, before the Conference fully endorsed the Sinking Fund system. We are yet in our infancy, but we have been profited somewhat, by the good example of our Seignior, the Ohio State Christian Association, which is in a flourishing condition. We have succeeded in putting into the Treasury a respectable sum of money. We think we are justifiable in making this statement, when we take into consideration, that this is a new thing to the people in our State. In fact, some of them are surprised to think that we should undertake such a magnificent work as this—it is wondrous in their eyes.

Some time is, however, required to educate the people up to the proper standard of giving of their means, in sums sufficiently large, to carry forward to completion such a work as the State Christian Conference has in contemplation.

10. Catalogue and Year-Book of the Christian

11. We will next notice the Conferences which compose this State Conference. These are eight in number. We have not been enabled as yet to get a full statistical account of these Conferences; hence we can only give them in part. We will give their names severally, in the order in which they are spread upon the minutes of the last Annual Session of Conference.

1. The Central Christian Conference^e.
2. " Eastern Indiana Conference.
3. " Eel River Conference.
4. " Grant County Conference.
5. " Southern Indiana Conference.
6. " North-Western Conference.
7. " Union Miami Reserve Conference.
8. " Western Indiana Conference.

The Western Indiana Conference has celebrated its 50th Anniversary. Hence was organized fifty years ago; and I am happy to say, that its last session is said to have been one of even unusual interest.—one of the very best.

The Eel River Conference has just passed its Thirty-Seventh Anniversary. This Conference was organized August 26, 1844, with three ordained, and six licensed ministers; eight churches; aggregated membership, 258. It numbers at present: ministers 31; churches 31; total membership over 2,200.

Farther correct statistics I cannot give, but hope that we will get them during this Conference Session. I presume that we have a membership within the State of Indiana of over 20,000, and this membership controls no small amount of wealth; from which amount there should be enough donated to endow the State Conference for all intents and purposes, to carry forward its great mission work.

Our predecessors have done a noble work for us. Theirs was hard toil and labour. They traveled sometimes on foot, and some of them bare-footed at that; sometimes on horse-back or in a wagon, upon the Indian trail, or a winding wagon road, running around timber falls, called dead falls; and swamps, through marshes; in short any way and any how, so that they might be enabled to reach their appointments.

Then the Brethren would bring out their families, either on foot, horse-back, or in wagons, with, sometimes, an ox team; or occasionally, a family ox would bear upon its back its load of human beings to the house of the Lord, which was a log cabin; and usually the humble dwelling of some devoted Christian family, composed frequently of one room. This answered for kitchen, parlor, bed room and church; seated with stools, flat rails, and the family beds. Later cabin school houses were erected. If the services were in the evening, there could be seen in the different directions along the winding paths, the approach of the hickory-bark torch-light, which lit up the winding paths of devoted christians and their neighbors, all marching to the house of worship, where they attentively listened to the Word of Life, as expounded to them by the Man of God, an humble self-sacrificing Minister of Jesus Christ. Those efforts were greatly blessed to the conversion of many precious souls.

Churches were organized, and these in due time were formed into Conferences, all over our then wilderness country, but now garden State. In those early times, the cause of our well beloved Master, Christ Jesus, was moved forward with but little financial aid. Our Fathers labored in the Ministry, with scarcely any, and sometimes, with no salary at all. But time moved on; grain fields took the place of the mighty forests; the Indian and the wild beast measureably disappeared. School houses were erected, then colleges. And here we are to-day, over fifty years in the advance. The forest has melted away before the hand of civilization, the result of christian advancement.

Now all over our State are beautiful, rich and productive farms. The log cabin is superseded by magnificent dwellings. The wild plum and crab-apple thickets, by orchards, bearing all the varieties of delicious fruits. Then think of our Villages, Towns and Cities, with their manufacturing facilities; our mercantile wealth, etc.

Also think of our conveniences for travel: our wagon roads abundant, piked and graveled. All the large streams well bridged; prancing horses; flashy harness; cushion-seated carriages. Oh! with what ease we now travel! What a contrast to the Indian trail, winding road, rough, jostling wagon, compared with our soft cushioned seats, and these upon pliable springs. Are we now content? or are we grumbling on yet, and sighing for the times of yore; and these we call private conveyances.

Then what of public conveyances? Our railroads—their speed, so that distance is measured by time, and not by miles. Now a few hundred miles are passed as quickly as a few miles were in ancient times. Think of the comfort also, of riding in palace coaches. The winds may blow, the rain may fall, storms rage, but here we are as comfortable as if we were at home in the old arm chair.

Then, consider also, the no small number of Church edifices we have all over the State. Also the common schools, the high schools, and our beloved Union Christian College, with our CHRISTIAN AGE, books, etc.; great population and a vast amount of wealth. With all this before us, we are made to exclaim; That the look-out for us, is certainly very cheering, and promises great events. And we flatter ourselves that by doing our part well, and making use, properly, of the means within our reach, that the most cheering results, which the most sanguine might anticipate, will be the outcoming, growing fruits of the work of this Conference. Brethren, be encouraged and go on in your work of honoring God in the salvation of precious souls.

III. For the furtherance of Christ's cause, and the growth of Christianity, we advise the appointing of Committees as follows:

12. Catalogue and Year-Book of the Christian

1. On the evil of Drunkenness and its Remedy.

We ask this Committee, aside from the Committee, on Temperance. The crying evil of drunkenness being too great, to be connected with other branches of intemperance, such as tobacco, etc.

2. Committee on Temperance, aside from the use of ardent spirits.

3. On Sunday Schools.

4. ON CHRISTIAN AGE. Its finance, and how to increase its circulation.

5. On Publications—the whole work.

6. On Union Christian College, in all its several departments, with its claims on the Christian Denomination, and the Denomination on the College.

We do not believe that a Committee on Education, could consider every department and thing, connected with the Union Christian College. Hence we ask for a Committee to give all its energies to Union Christian College alone.

7. On Education.

8. On Auditing Accounts.

9. On Finance.

10. On Moral Reform.

11. Advice to the Ministry, and the Relation which they sustain to the Church.

12. On Advice to the Laity, and the Relationship which they sustain to the Ministry.

13. On Mission Work. To begin without delay.

14. On Closing Exercises.

Thus far we have confined our remarks to the State of Indiana alone. We now come to our general work; for we being a part of the whole, have an interest at large, in common, with our Brethren, in the working and interests of the people called Christians.

IV. Our Cause at Large.

1. Our Rise. With this we go much farther back than with our own State. Instead of being a little over fifty years ago, it is nearly a century ago. The Christians started up anew, East, West, North and South, nearly simultaneously. This uniform up-rising we claim to be of Divine origin.

2. Our Progress. This has been gradual, but constant and steady onward. The little cloud or mound, at first, has become a great mountain. The Denomination is now exerting a wholesome influence over the several States and Canada. And its principles are felt, and acknowledged pretty extensively among the different Denominations throughout Christendom. And they (the Denominations) are more of a Bible people, and have a more extended fellowship for each other, and are doing more good in the world than before our rise, from the fact of the organization of the Christian Connection, as the principle of uniting with all Christians upon the Bible is a basis, which cannot consistently be opposed.

3. Our Work is to be continued. Yes, for our Work is not yet done.

While much has been done under unfavorable circumstances, when we were weak and poor, now that we have attained to greater wealth and strength, certainly much more can now be done. Under less favorable circumstances we have organized Churches, formed these into Conferences; and these district Conferences into State Conferences; and those again into one grand Quadrennial Conference of the whole. We have aided and sent out missionaries, to labor in the fields. Have erected and partially endowed colleges. Have established periodicals, published books, sending out our literature pretty extensively.

Probably we have not done this work as thoroughly as we should have done it. But certainly much has been done. Let us go on to a higher state of perfection. We may do this by completing the well-begun work; and to do this well, we must place our Schools, Publications, and Missionary Work beyond the reach of want. And then you may be well assured that general prosperity will attend each and every department of our great work. The dissemination of truth, and the upbuilding of the Master's cause.

Just so long as sin abounds, and some are unconverted, infidelity existing, and the union of God's people upon the Bible not completed, so long the mission of the Christians will continue, legitimately, and in full force.

4. How to Work. We should work in harmony with each other.

By this we do not mean that we should not contend with each other on our differences. For we are to contend earnestly for the sainted Faith. But we are to do this in the spirit of Christ Jesus, and not in a spirit of strife, thereby causing unnecessary division, remembering that we can understand the words spoken by the Son of God just as well as any other book, which was at first written in another tongue, and in ancient times.

Truly, the sayings of Jesus are to be spiritually discerned. Then having the Spirit of Christ we may understand his word. We are not to give up what we believe to be Bible doctrine, unless our best judgement is convinced by Bible evidence, that we were mistaken in our views of the subject under consideration; and being convinced of our error, we should at once frankly acknowledge our mistake—give it up, and just as earnestly, and if possible more earnestly—contend for what we are now satisfied is the doctrine taught by the Son of God, remembering that His word will judge us in the last day.

And we are all, no doubt, fully convinced, that as a denomination, we should fully endow all of our Schools, and lift our Publishing House out of the mire of debt. And as a State, we should lead out in all the interests of Union Christian College; that we should also sustain, and put the Christian Age beyond all embarrassment.

Also to so increase the State Conference sinking fund that it may be in all time to come enabled to meet all demands; heeding all calls for aid, in building up our beautiful Zion throughout the State, until righteousness shall cover it, as the waters cover the great deep. And not only our State, but the whole World, until earth shall keep jubilee, and the will of God be done, on earth as it is done in Heaven. May God grant it, and that right speedily. AMEN.

A BRIEF NOTICE, HISTORY, LOCATION, BUILDING, REGULATIONS, CALENDAR FOR 1880 AND 1881, BOARD OF TRUSTEES, EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE, FACULTY, ALUMNI, ETC.

—:O:—

LOCATION.

Union Christian College is located at Merom, Sullivan County, Indiana. The most convenient station is Sullivan, on the Evansville & Terre Haute Railroad, twenty-six miles south of Terre Haute, and thirty-two north of Vincennes. A hack runs daily between Merom and Sullivan, a distance of ten miles.

A narrow guage railroad is in course of construction from Bedford, Indiana, to Quincy, Illinois, passing through Sullivan, Merom, and Robinson, Illinois. It is hoped that it will be in operation by July 1, 1880.

Merom, the former county-seat, is situated in the western part of the county, on the Wabash River. It is unsurpassed in the Mississippi Valley for the romance and attractiveness of its situation, being located on a high and precipitous bluff overlooking the waters of the Wabash, the prairies of Indiana above and below, and those of Illinois beyond. Its population is about six hundred. The morals, order and quiet of the place are not surpassed and rarely equalled. Grog-shops and gambling-saloons are unknown in the town, and allurements to dissipation and objects that distract the mind from study are few.

BUILDING.

The College edifice is a magnificent structure of brick, one hundred and nine feet long, sixty-five broad, sixty-three feet to top of front wing walls, eighty-eight feet to floor of cupola, one hundred and twenty-eight feet to top of central spire. It is four stories high; comprises twenty-six commodious apartments; and, from the cupola, the eye sweeps an area of more than one thousand square miles.

REGULATIONS.

The rules of the institution are few. They extend to those subjects only which are essential to order, morals, and successful study, such as a faithful and industrious student would impose upon himself.

The above list gives us one hundred and ninety-eight names of ministers, ordained and un-ordained, in the State, and we have reason to believe that this list is minus a number more—what the name or where they live we have no means of knowing—owing to the incomplete reports which came into our hands, and from which the list was made up, together with the Christian Almanac.

Summing Up and Remarks.

REMARKS.

The foregoing Statement presents only our reported strength, and not our real strength. One Conference has given us no report at all, and some of those which we have are meagre in several important particulars, and we have no means of knowing the exact number of members, finances, etc. In fact we do not understand that either of the seven Conferences reporting pretend to give their full strength,—only those reporting at their last sessions, and of these there is no small percentage of ministers, churches, and Sunday-schools which failed to send in their Annual Reports.

We are approximating, however, toward a correct knowledge of our whole strength, numerically and otherwise, in the State.

As we have 14,651 members reported, lacking only 349 of 15,000, we can now be certain that our numerical strength is from fifteen to twenty thousand—probably very nearly approaching the latter figures. This may not be all that we expected; yet when we consider that this number is more than doubled by those that attend upon our ministry, and hold to the liberal views of our denomination, and in various ways add much to the interest and strength of the Christians, we should feel encouraged to put forth greater efforts for the spread of the Gospel of CHRIST JESUS.

Indeed, the very thought that over forty thousand of our fellow-creatures being reached regularly by the Christian Ministry, should fully arouse us to a sense of our duty to both God and man! Why, the fields in Indiana are white already for the sickle! Brother Reaper, (minister) thrust in thy sickle! God will help thee to gather in the golden sheaves! The field is indeed inviting. Shall we not go forward? What say you, my Brethren?

I think the field to be somewhat inviting to our State Paper. Let us see: We must have at least 6000 male members within the State, and certainly 2500 of these ought to be taking THE CHRISTIAN AGE. The lack of brethren to make up this number could be supplied by sisters who are enterprising enough to subscribe for the paper. Then certainly quite a number—amounting to a few hundreds—could be obtained outside of Indiana; so that the out-look for our paper is hopeful. A little more earnest work in the spirit of the Master is what is needed.

DEAR BROTHERS: In getting up this Catalogue we have done the best we could under the circumstances. The time was short, as it was expected that we would have the work ready for mailing in January. We addressed quite a number of brethren, requesting such information as they might be able to give. Some have responded promptly and satisfactorily, and they have our thanks; while some did not respond at all—even some to whom I sent addressed and stamped envelopes in which to return answers to our enquiries. But now you have the Catalogue, and if it meets your expectations it is well; but if not and you censure us, we must abide the decision, and rest under your censure, but must contend that we have done the best we could under the circumstances.

My Brethren, I know you will admit this fact—that this is the best Christian Catalogue of Indiana that was ever published. Accept this one now, and let us hope that next year some one will be able to give us a full and complete publication of the statistics of THE CHRISTIANS IN INDIANA.

And now a Happy New Year, and a prosperous season to you all; and may God bless you all.

Your Brother, PETER WINEBRENNER.

PROSPECTUS

OF

The Christian Age,

Organ of the Christian Denomination in Indiana.

WITH January 1881, THE AGE commenced its Fifth year of publication. In April, 1879, it was adopted as the organ of the Christian Denomination in Indiana for local purposes, and as a medium of intercommunication in connection with our State Mission Work.

The strength and encouragement it received by this recognition of the State Conference, and the consequent addition of patronage, has been most propitious and tended largely to make the paper a financial success.

THE AGE has also been highly commended by its readers wherever received, and is now believed to be a valuable, even indispensable auxiliary to the christian work now being prosecuted in the State and the cause generally.

It now circulates in Illinois, Iowa and Kansas; a few copies in the States of Ohio, Michigan, New York and New England, besides in Indiana, where the bulk of its subscribers reside,—and is slowly, though constantly increasing.

The feeling which was apparent at the commencement of its publication—that it was designed as a rival to the Herald of Gospel Liberty—has now about subsided, and THE AGE is being recognized as simply a co-worker;—not in the same field, but in the same cause, and in a field peculiarly its own.

It aims to stimulate and increase the interest in mission work and church extension, together with both a better preparation of the ministry for their work and a better support, as also a higher order of intelligence in the membership. It holds that work is as necessary to christian life as faith; and that a more active zeal in the cause of the Master is the sole condition upon which our denominational existence and prosperity depends.

The editor will endeavor, from many year's experience in the profession, as well as from conscientious regard for truth and fairness, to guard the columns of THE AGE from pernicious matter, or from unchristian attacks upon the character or standing of any of its correspondents.
